Keeping Friends is an eight session peer led module that supports young people to develop the knowledge, skills and attitudes necessary to maintain friendships and interact with one another in a friendly and positive way.

Keeping Friends is based on the premise friendship skills can be learned in a mutually supportive environment.

Keeping Friends provides students with opportunities to develop skills in maintaining positive friendships by learning how to play fairly, accept that friendships change, support each other and acknowledge that they may have a variety of friends.

“We often choose friends who have qualities we value.”
- Peer Support Australia, 2008

Learning about relationships is an important part of growing up. Friendships formed in the primary school years are significant indicators of adolescent social health.

Research suggests the quality rather than the quantity of friendships is the key to good mental health. It is very difficult for students to maintain a large number of close friends and often it involves personal compromise or sacrifice to satisfy so many other interests. However, those students who have a small group of close friends can easily move between friends while feeling free to establish new relationships with others.

“Peer relations contribute substantially to both social and cognitive development and to the effectiveness with which we function as adults. Indeed, the single best childhood predictor of adult adaptation is the adequacy with which the child gets along with other children.”
- Hartup, 1992

Keeping Friends focuses on developing skills in:

- Critical thinking
